Did you know?

1 in 3 American adults is currently at risk for developing kidney disease.

26 million American adults have kidney disease -- and most don't know it.

Kidney disease is the 9th leading cause of death in the United States.

Every year, kidney disease kills more people than breast or prostate cancer.

In 2013, more than 47,000 Americans died from kidney disease.

More than 661,000 Americans have kidney failure.
