Nathan Littauer Celebrates National Doctors' Day

GLOVERSVILLE, NY – Nathan Littauer Hospital and Nursing Home is proud to announce its celebration of National Doctors' Day on March 30th by hosting a breakfast in the hospital's cafeteria for its medical providers. The breakfast dedicated to the providers is a way for the hospital to recognize and express appreciation for the hard work and dedication of its doctors.

National Doctors' Day has been observed since 1933, and is a day to honor the contributions of physicians across the world. At Nathan Littauer, it is a time to reflect on the tireless efforts of its providers who care for members of the community every day – often under challenging circumstances.

“National Doctors' Day is an important day for us to recognize the incredible work that our physicians do every day,” said Nathan Littauer Hospital and Nursing Home President and CEO, Sean Fadale. “Our doctors are the backbone of our hospital, and we are grateful for their expertise, dedication, and unwavering commitment to our patients.”

The breakfast event will be held on March 30th at 7:00 a.m. in Nathan Littauer Hospital's cafeteria. All clinicians are invited to attend, and the event will feature a variety of delicious breakfast foods and beverages.

Nathan Littauer has a total of over 200 medical providers working with the healthcare organization to provide a close continuum of care for the members of the community.

“We hope this event shows our appreciation for the hard work our providers make every day,” added Fadale. “Their commitment to our patients is truly inspiring, and we are honored to celebrate National Doctors' Day with them.”

In celebration of National Doctors'/Providers' Day, Nathan Littauer invites the members of the community to express thanks to their healthcare provider, and the healthcare organization's medical providers by sending handwritten "thank you" cards or letters, commenting on the hospital Facebook page's posts, or through separate submission on the nlh.org website.
